“ My family lived across the street from the Huddleston family in the early 1960s. Oh, those were the days: rock and roll, hot cars, bobby socks, poodle skirts, sock hops, the skating rink, and the Huddleston girls visiting my older sisters and brothers. There was much gaiety and laughter when the Busby's and Huddleston's were creating wonderful memories of a long ago era, especially for an impressionable, small boy who tagged along on many a double date.

For the Huddleston family: I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the following words: I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have known and loved such an individual.
